NEW YORK, June 17.—The will of billiott Zeborowski, sometimes known as Count Zeborowski, who was Count Zeborowski, who was killed near Nice, France in an automobile accident April 1 has been filed for probate here. It was executed in England., March 31, one day before his death. No amount of the estate is mentioned, but $250,000 is left to the son Louis, for life. an account of disturbances there on Monday last. About 5000 young workingmen, Jews, parade the streets in an orderly manner as a Socialist demonstration. The police, in view of the number of those engaged, called on the Cossacks for assistance, and then the police and Cossacks charged the workment, beating them with the flat of their swords and fists, and mercilessly continuing the beating after a number had been arrested, and were helpless, and further beating trem at the station, where, according to the mail advices, blood "ran in rivulets."

It is reported that ten young men were beaten to death, and that one hundred who were arrested were, all seriously wounded. Surgeons were kept, hunsy for five hours sewing up wounds, after the fury of the police had been spent.

BELGRADE, June 17.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The correspondent of the Associated Press was allowed to inspect the palace in which King Alexander and Queen Draga were murdered. The bedroom, which is turnished in ampire style, remains in the same condition as when the King and Queen fied on the approach of the assassins. The officers who attended the correspendent shoked the latter the blood-stained floor of the ward room where the King and Queen fell, and the broken Venetian shutter, at the winder through which their bodies were thrown to the ground.

A secret stairway leads through the floor to rooms in the southern end of floor to rooms in the southern end of the palace. By this stairway the hapless couple might have attempted to escape, but they were unable to do so because the opening of this stairway was covered by a heavy chest. Escape in any event would have been impossi-ble, as the soldiers who had surrounded the palace were so determined upon the death of the King and Queen that they had even placed cannon in front of the palace, and were prepared to de-stroy the building in the event of failing to find their prey.

Each of the three rooms between the vestibule and the bed-chamber showed marks of the tragedy. Mirrors were shattered, pictures were shot through, furniture broken, there were bullet holes in the door and the oil portraits of the King, which were in every room, and most of the latter were otherwise mutilated. Contrary to the general understanding, but little effort has been made to renovate the apartment, except where the carpenters were making two new doors to replace those that had been blown to pieces at the time the conspirators forced their way into the rooms occupied by

The house of the King's adjutant, statcked, is even a greater wreck than the royal apartments in the palace.

The entrance was completely destroyed by dynamite. The adjutant then escaned unburt but he was killed later in the vestibule of the palace. A large blood stain marked the spot where the officer died.

It was in a bare, whitewashed room on the comander's quarters adjoining the palace that Queen Draga's two brothers were sitting on a wooden chair, which bears marks of bullets. The proceedings in the palace today showed the same callousness that has characterised the actions and demanor of everybody in Belgrade since the tragedy.

The Servian officers, chatting and smilling, led their guests to the different rooms, eagerly pointing out the builet holes, dynamite marks and blood stains, and displaying the great-set scileture that no trace of the slaughter should be overlooked.

Queen Draga's costly gowns and linguist were overhauled by the rough hands of the soldiers when the Associated Press correspondent was in her bedroom, and rude lests were made regarding the drawer full of toys which it was suggested were intended for the "expected help."

The murderers entered the palace from the rear, where there is a large vestibule that looked as though it had been struck by a tornado. The heavy oak doors and massive side columns were abattered by dynamite and the doors through three rooms leading to the royal bed-chamber were also forced in a similar manner. Fire had been stated in two places in the palace.

ASHINGTON. June 17.—Postmaster-General Payne today

Assistant Postmaster-General Bristow to the charges of Seymour W. Tulloch, former cashier of the Washington
City postoffice, regarding the irregulartities in the postoffice administration, and also reports of inspection and investigation of the Washington postoffice by inspectors between June 20,

These papers constitute by far the most significant documents yet made public as a result of the sweeping postal invertigation. The reports show the existence of many irregularities during the period involved. The inspector who investigated the irregularities reports that the files of the postoffice cashier show direct orders from superior authority for the disbursement of all the questionable items cited. The imspector urged "that the responsibility for the many likegal appointments, the payment of two salaries to one and the same person, and the disbursement of thousands of dellars for which practically no service was performed." should be placed where it processes the payment of two salaries to one and the same person, and the disbursement of thousands of dellars for which practically no service was performed." should be placed where it processes.

"The charge of Mr. Tulloch is, in its essence, against President McKinley, and Poetmaster-General Smith. President McKinley is no longer living: Postmaster-General Smith, who earried out President McKinley's policy, has answered for himself. With regard to the present management of the Washington postoffice and the conduct of any and all the men charged with wrongdoing who have been in the postal service under the present administration, a thorough and seaching investigation is now being made, and when it is ended the facts in the case will be made public, as also whatever action may be taken in view of such

The Emperor replied in these terms: VIENNA. June 11.—His Majesty, the King of Servia: In acknowledging the friendly notification of your accession to the throne, I desire to assure you without delay of my complete sympathy and wishes that you may have a long and happy reign. May it be vouchsafed to Your Majesty to carry out successfully the nonble mission devolved upon you by raising it again after the severe fall which it recently sustained in the eves of the civilized world, through ithe hinous and universalty reprobated crime.

I was advised by the chief inspector, that George W. Beavers, chief of the Salary and Allowance Division, had suggested to one of the inspectors that suggested to one of the inspectors that when he came to certain appointments in some of the stations that appeared irregular, he had better make no reference to them, as they had been ordered personally by the Postmaster-General. I told the chief inspector to instruct the inspectors to report the facts as they would in any other inspectios: that I did not believe the Postmaster-General had knowingly authorised any irregularities.

"Capt. W. B. Smith, inspector-incharge, submitted a special report July 6, as directed, an abstract of which is herewith submitted, marked Exhibit B. This report disclosed what seemed to me glaring irregularities, and I submitted it personally to the Postmaster-General, suggesting to him at the time that it contained matters to which I thought he would want to give his personal attention.

"Referring to the statement that it thought he would want to give his personal attention.

"Referring to the statement that, I had demanded a thorough investigation of the office of the First Assistant Posimaster-General, I beg to state that Inspector-in-Charge Smith, in his special report, heretofore mentioned as Exhibit B, stated that he had discovered a condition of affairs which in his judgment, required an immediate, thorough and exhaustive investigation. I submitted this report to the Postmaster-General, with my approval, but I did not consider such approval as a demand on my part that the office of the First Assistant Postmaster-General-be investigated.

"The third report, dated July 31, 1908, an abstract of which is herewith submitted, marked Exhibit C, sets forth a number of irregularities that prevailed at that time in the Washington postaness. This inspection was begun when at that time in the Washington post-office. This inspection was begun when I was absent from the department. When I returned, I was informed by the Chief Inspector that complaint was made to the Postmaster-General that Inspector Little, who was engaged on the work was asking unnecessary ques-tions and seeking information which was not called for in an inspection.

Expenditures irregularly charged to the Washington office and which belonged to the department itself are specified in this exhibit. It says that Robert V. Willet, a son of the postmaster at that time, drew two sealaries from July 1 to December 10, 1893, as a laborer at the city postoffice at $200 a year, and the other as a mechanic at $2 a day for each working day on what appears to have been a special roll of the free-delivery serv-

Treasury, and all the expenditures rate formed to were allowed by the Auditor and Comproviler with the exception of $180."

Attention is called to additional irregularities in connection with payrolis of clerks and laborers and to charging premiums of the bonds of the military postal clerks notwithstanding such expenses are not chargeable to the United States. An interesting feature concerns irregularities in the appointment, compensation and promotion of Oliver H. Smith. On November 20, 1897, the first assistant Postmaster-General authorized an allowance of $800 per annum for his appointment as laborer, stating that the free-delivery division would also allow $2 per day $6 cover car fare and incidental expenses. Smith drew pay from November 23, 1897, to November 30, 1898, making his compensation for one year $1348.60. The inspector re-

NEW YORK, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ex-Congressman Edmund H. Driggs of Brooklyn was asked today by the World for a full statement of his connection with the Brandt Automatic Cashier Company. He said:

"In view of all, publicity given my name in connection with the Brandt Automatic Cashier in the Postoffice Department, I am quite willing that the World shall make public the facts. They are as follows: In May, 1899, after the final adjournment of the Fifty-fifth Congress, and prior to being yworn as a member of the Fifty-sixth Congress, I secured for the Brandt Automatic Cashier Company an order for 250 of these machines. The machines were to go to various postmachines were to go to various post-offices throughout the country solely offices throughout the country solely upon the requisition of the postmasters, and they were to go only to postoffices and they were to go only to postoffices where the annual receipts were not less than $40,000, or $50,000.

"At the time of making this business agreement with the Brandt Automatic Cashier Company, I did not know any legal reason to prevent my forming such commercial connection. I did not know any law prohibiting me from making such connection, and I certainly have never used my official position in any way, shape, manner or form for the furtherance of the interests of the Brandt Automatic Cashier Company.

government, James T. Metcalfe, for many years superintendent of the money-order syste B of the Postoffice Department, was today-removed from office by the Postmaster-General. A full investigation will be made later. The dismissal is the result of acts of Mr. Metcalfe in opposition to the bid of Paul Herman of Rutherford, N. J., the lowest bidder by $45,000 and in favor of the next highest bidder, the Wynkoop-Hallenbeck-Crawford Company of New York, of which Metcalfe's a later with explanations, lient by item; has been on file in the department for four years. So for a set I know there is neither in son is an employé.

Postmaster-General Payne, in accounting for his action, stated that there was no charge that Metcalfe had done anything against the law, but said that his conduct was a serious indiscretion that could not be overlooked. Metcalfe, he says, has always been considered a faithful, efficient, painstaking and honest employé.

The Postmaster-General, on his arrival at the department today, sent for Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General Bristow and Assistant Attorney-General Robb, and after detailing the information that had reached him regarding the money-order bids, instructed them to send for Metcalfe and immediately investigate the case. It was no destined in the proper discharge of his duty in reply to questions, he said no consideration had been given as yet to the appointment of a successor, but that the duties of superintendent for the present would devolve on Metcalfe's as sistant. He is Edward F. Kimball of Massachusetts, who has been in the service seventeen years.

Metcalfe was originally appointed from lowa and had been in the postal service since 1852. Since his administration of the office the money-order service has been widely extended by mutual arrangements with a large number of foreign governments throughout the world, and Metcalfe has enjoyed corpolities being from New York:

The Wynkoop-Hallenbeck-Crawford Company has been the contractor for the money-order blanks for sixteen years. Norman Metcaife, the twenty-seven-year-old son of the deposed superintendent, draws a salary of $2250 from the company.

Metcaife tonight said that he had done nothing wrong and had nothing to conceal; that his son's employment by the bidding firm could have no effect on the award; that he suggested to Herman to relinquish the government work because he (Metcaife) knew that Herman's means were limited, and that seconds of the seconds of the seconds.

Raymond, who says he had the check cashed for Machen.

Lorenz has declared that the signatures both of the check and the voucher accompanying it are forgeries. He declares that he has not received a cent of the money wind has no knowledge of the transaction.

James T. Metcalf, the superintendent of this service, was summoned today to the private office of Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General Bristow, where he was examined by Bristow. Inspector Fosnes, the general superintendent of the free-delivery system, and Bristow's chief assistant in the division, Assistant Attorney-General Robb and others. It is known that the controversy over the contract for the printing of the money orders was thoroughly considered. The Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford Company of New York, of which Herman Metcalf, a son of the head-of the money-order bureau, is an employé, has had the contract for many years, and Paul Herman of Rutherford, N. J., the lowest bidder, whom the bidders claim is unable to fulfill the contract, is making a determined fight, for the contract, as he has no plant.

IBY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M. WASHINGTON, June 17.-The for of indorsing Lorenz's name was issued on a voucher drawn on the postmaster at New York. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON. June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to Herbert J. Browne of this city who has just returned from a lengthy visit to Cuba, the reciprocity treaty between the island and the United States, which occupied so much of the time of the last Congress, is not regarded with as great favor now by the business classes of Cuba as when the treaty was pending. Browne talked with many merchants and planters while in Cuba, and had opportunities to become acquainted with the sentiment of the business men on this question.

Browne says the outlook for the crops of the island is most encouraging, especially sugar. On this point he says. "Sugar producers have made this year the second record crop in the history of the island, the crop being over one million tons. Next year, the crop is expected to be the largest ever produced. At the present price of sugar, all of the "centrals" equipped with modern machinery are making some money—enough to encourage them with respect to the future.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M] HEPPNER (Or.) June 17.—The work clearing the streets of the great piles of wreckage which were lodged in the town by Sunday's flood was commenced in earnest today. Bodies are being recovered almost every hour, and tonight the most accurate estimates place the number of dead at 200. The exact number of victims will probably never be known, as many have been washed miles down the creek and cov-ered over by the huge accumuations mission to sieep on the noor at the Catholic Church, the Courthouse and schoolhouse during last night. The authorities granted permission, but were surprised at the repetition of the request made Monday night. It is not destitution, but fear that causes the inhabitants to quake with apprehension whenever a cloud hovers over the cafions above town.

Many women declare that they will never live in the town again, and are imploring their families to desert the place. This feeling does not wear off, and it is expected that nightly refuge wil be sought for some time yet at the public buildings and churches which stand well up on the hill. Despite the endeavor to soothe and calm prevalent.

LEXINGTON (Or.) June 17.—At this point, the roaring of the Heppner cloud-burst was heard some time in advance of this, no lives were lost, and the property loss is confined to buildings. The largest individual loser is particularly John Hall, a rancher. All his possessions were destroyed, except the ground on which his dwelling stood. His stock, cattle, horses, hogs, wagons, house and furniture were all caught in the rising torrent and swept down the valley. While the flood was not as high here as at Heppner, the surface of Willow Creek rose fifteen feet above its normal level.

The Methodist Church was lifted up, twisted around and then swept like a giant cannonball against the Congregational Church a thousand feet away. Both places of worship were completely weeked. Immediately after the passage of the water, rescue parties were organized to aid the stricken at Heppner. The first parties, which made a rapid journey from Lexington to Heppner found in their hurried search six bodies. There are undoubtedly many more of the missing hidden in the piles of weekage above the town. It will be impossible to thoroughly search all of this wreckage, and many of the bodies will in all probability, never be recovered.

COLONIAL SECRETARY GETS BEST OF THE ENEMY.

Instead of Driving a Wedge Between Unionists Leaders Campbell-Bannerman Only Able to Draw the Premier Out of His Shell.

IBT THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.1 LONDON, June 17.—In the Commons today Premier Balfour declared that he had nothing to withdraw or to modify in his recent speech. The matter was taken up again at the evening session, when Mr. Balfour, after reading Vice-Adm. al Lawson's dispatch, said that with regard to preferential trade the Cabinet were at one with the government of New South Wales in desiring a thorough investigation. He denied a thorough investigation. He denied emphatically that the government had raised false hopes in the colonies. The only chance whereby the colonies might regard their hopes as faire would be if the opposition assumed power and car-ried out their intention to abandon the colonies to the trade discrimination of colonies to the trade discrimination of the whole world. Sir Charles Dilke, having referred to the Premier's statement as a momentuous one, committing the government to a policy of retailation, which was a direct step toward avowed protection, Mr. Balfour retorted that he had not said a word about retailation but he would not shrink from retailation if he were satisfied there was no other method.

but he would not shrink from retallation if he were satisfied there was no other method.

Mr. Chamberlain then rose and referred to Germany's action, toward Canada as proof that there was a hostile discrimination against the colonies. He did not blame Germany so long as the British policy was to lie down under that treatment. Then, indorsing the Premier's statement regarding retallation, he expressed confidence that Germany would not compel Great British to consider retallatory measures, but if it did he would say with Mr. Palfour that it was the government's duty to find a remedy.

The result of today's debate is recognized as a great personal triumph for Mr. Chamberlain. The intention of the Liberals was to drive a wedge between the Colonial Secretary and the Premier, who has throughout undersyored to maintain a non-committal attitude toward the preferential third proposals. Instead of attaining this the effect of the debate was to drive Mr. Baifour into the Colonial Secretary's arms, and practically commit the government to a policy of retallation.

Rumors circulated in the lobbies for the government to a policy of retalia-tion.

Rumors circulated in the lobbies toi-night to the effect that the debate would result in the resignation of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Ritchie: the Duke of Devonshir and other free traders in the Cabinet, but these reports were not regarded seri-ously.

For several years the price paid by

On October 8, 1898, the price of the paper, to subscribers was reduced to 35 cents a month, and Taylor was notified that the price to him would be 23 cents a month. He continued to receive and deliver the papers, but refusel to pay for them any sum in excess of that which would leave him his former profit of 24 cents per month. for each subscriber.

The court says that "the position of defendant seems to be that, by his contract, he acquired the right for all time to make a profit of 24 cents per month on each subscriber," and declares that "the contract cannot be so construed," and that "there is nothing in the agreement that required 'Dargie to continue to furnish papers at a rate that was not acceptable to him."

The court holds that when the defendant continued to receive the papers after a notice that the price to him had been raised, "he must be held to have consented to that rate and to have become liable therefor."

The decision is rendered by Angelotti and concurred in by Shaw and Van Dyke.

GUAYMAS. ARRIVAL OF GOVERNOR-ELECT YZABAL.

INPECTAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES. GUAYMAS, June 10.—On Wednesday Governor-elect Rafael Yzabal re-turned from the City of Mexico, accompanied by his family. A party from Hermosillo, headed by Gen. Luis E. Torres, now Governor of Sonora, came to Guayamas to greet the distin-guished gentleman and unite in the reception given to him by the citizens. On Thursday an excursion and fishing ception given to him by the citizens. On Thursday an excursion and fishing party was given in his honor. A steam launch from the shipyards and two boats from the corvette Democrata, and two from the transport Oaxaca (the Mexican men-of-war now in the harbor) conveyed the party to Paral Viejo, where the day was delightfully passed in fishing and other enfoyments. A sumptuous luncheon was served.

In the evening a brilliant excursion around the bay closed the festival. Two lighters were chained together and towed about the bay by a tug, both being crowded with society people of Guaymas, as well as the Hermodillo visitors. One was fitted and decorated as a drawing-room, the other as a refreshment room. As the excursion passed the Democrata and the Oaxaca, fireworks and rockets were set off from the barges, which were responded to by a display of red fire all along both vessels and from the yards. It was a splendid sight. The nocturnal seaside ball lasted until 3 o'clock a.m. On Friday evening Gov. Yazbal returned to Hermosillo and was given a reception, ball and banquet there Saturday night.

Charles Gollmer, Eugene H. Roth, J. C. Tipton and Henry Koch, all residents of Los Angeles, are at the Hotel Alameda on their way to La Paz, on a mining expedition.

Our Right to the Name. The Canadians complain of what they call Yankee presumption in over the entrance of our embassy London, which read "Embassy of the United States" and the substitution of one on which is inscribed in the brightest of gold letters: "American Embassy." Mr. Choate has conformed to this change by having his cards to read "The American Ambassador."
The explanation of Secretary Hay is that there are other United States—in Brazil, Colombia and Mexico. He might have affirmed that it was the might have affirmed that it was the English who did most to fasten the name American on the citizen of this country. While a few Englishmen having close relations with Canada speak of this as "the States," which is indefinite, every writer and orator of influence in Great Britain uses the larger term of "America."

Religious Newspapers.

An investigation into the number and the circulation of religious newspapers in the United States has been made by the editor of the New World, a Roman Catholic paper published in Chicago; and it presents some interesting (and presumably authentic) facts. The Catholics have the largest number of papers, with the largest combined circulation—naturally because they have the largest memberpapers in the United States has be cause they have the largest member-ship. Next comes the Methodists, then the Baptists, then the Presbyterians, then the Jews and then the Episco-palians. But there is only one Meth-odist church paper to every 53,000 Methodists; one to every 38,500 Catholics; one to every 31,000 Baptists, and one to every 3100 Jews.

The circulation of most of these papers is proportionate to church membership less than it formerly was. Their average circulation is a little membership less than it formerly was. Their average circulation is a little more than 4000 copies each. The number of church papers shows a constant tendency to increase, for all the small sects have their own; but most of them show also a tendency to become (with all expect). come (with all respect) a kind of trade paper. Their dissemination of church news and of official informa-tion and the like is coming to be one of the principal reasons for the exist-ence of many of them. As a class they have less general influence on the whole community than they had a generation ago. But, on the other hand, the best weekly and monthly periodicals of serious purpose—the weeklies and monthlies that are not weekiles and monthlies that are not church publications—give the whole re-ligious public a far better and more various religious literature than any public in any country ever before had. Religious literature is not declining— it is becoming broader and better— but what may be called sectarian literature becomes less and less influential.—[World's Work.

FORESTS AND FLOODS. There is a lesson in the dreadful floods that have wrought so much destruction in the United States during the past few months, and it should not be permitted to go unheeded. These floods have undoubtedly been growing more frequent and more serious from year to year, and the cause is not far to seek. John P. Brown, secretary of the International Society of Arboricul-ture, has devoted forty years to the study of forests and floods. He predicts floods of much greater destructiveness and of far wider range than He goes so far as to say that within twenty-five years floods like those that have occurred this season in Kansas Nebraska and Missouri will be genera throughout the continent, and further more that within half a century "the great agricultural region of the United States will be as sterile as the deserts of Arizona or the plains of China." He bases this unpleasant prediction or the fact that the American forests are being destroyed at a most alarming rate, so that unless some reform is in troduced they will practically be gone within half a century. The destrucpermits the rains to rush off imme-ciately. The result is on the one side arid lands, and on the other disps

Within his marble palace sat the late Mr. Nero, violin in hand. The last rays of the western sun streamed through the stained windows, and the sweet motes of the "intermezzo" beat upon the perfumed atmosphere. A servant entered.

"Your Majesty," he announced. "Your Majesty," he announced entered." "O tempora!" shricked Nero. "How came it that we lost?" "Alas, mighty one." replied the slave, "the new southpaw. Claudius McGillibus, allowed a hit in the ninth with a man on third."

He was k lled a week ago today near Agua Caliente, on the Mexican Central Railroad on which he was an engineer. Owing to washouts on the railroads, it took a week to bring the remains to his for-Fractically every railroad man in Los Argeles, and many other persons, knew and admired Raiph Cline. He came here with his parents when but a child, and was reared in this city. After completing his education he be-came a railroad man, and seven menths ago received an offer from the Mexican Central Railroad Company to take charge of one of its passenger take charge of one of its passenger engines. THE PLAYHOUSES.

MASON, OPERAHOUSE. Tonigh is opening night at the Mason Opera-house. Sothern is here with his splen-did production of McCarthy's romantic drawn "If I Were King," and the Lo-Angeles public may see him in the great role of Francis Villon, which he made famous and which he is said to made famous and which he is said to play in a manner worthy of all the traditions of the stage. Sothern brings with him more than 100 people, and special cars full of costungs and scenic effects With the actor are Miss Cecilia Loftus—the famous "Cissy" Loftus of yore—George W. Wilson, Margaret Blington. Rowland Buckstone. William Harris, Henry J. Carvill, Stephen Whight and others.

The affair tonight promises to be one of the swellest "functions" of the year, ag it is evident that society will turn out en masse.

The Sothern engagement is for three nights and a Saturday matinee, and aithough the seat sale has been a record breaker, the management reports many good places still left for all the performances.

presses. It consists, in addition to the regular news sheets, of a folio supplement of 112 pages, with an embossed chree-color half tone cover illustrating the historic discovery of the Father of Waters from Chickasaw Bluffs by Fernando De Soto. The picture is beautifully executed, stirring, and full of romantic action.

The publication abounds throughout in very artistic illustrations of the teeming business life and social characteristics of Memphis. The Scimitar's new home with the members of the various departments, the public enterprises of the city, and the men and women who conduct them are all artistically introduced in clear half tone cuts and letterpress that delights the sye.

Altogether, it is a very notable publication, and The Times begs to extend its felicitations to its progressive Southern contemporary.

ball sideways and just as it swooped down to the ground, he gave one last despairing jump upward and with his left hand stretched above his head and outward toward the Chutes, he grabbed it and turned half around with the force of his run. It was a wonderful catch and the excited fans gave him utes.

As showing that the play was exciting from the start to the finish, it only need be stated that the Looloos had men left on bases in twelve of the sixteen innings they played, and fourteen Innings. With these men trying to score on anything, it was small wonder that a thousand people forgot their evening menl and stayed until the finish.

Last year in Oakland, Sacramento and Qakland played nineteen innings to a 4 to 4 score.

SCORE BY INNINGS.

Notes of the game.

Shields's work vesterday with the stick shows that he is the best hitting plicher seem here for months.

Huriburt batted for Hoy in the tenth but could not connect. Joe Corbett then took Dummy's place in center and made three fine running catches that gave him a big hand of applause.

Nadeau's triple in the eighth, was really only a single that hit Smith on the-shins and bounded clear over to the score board. It was a very remarkable three bagger and of course, resulted in a run, for yesterday was three bagger day in every sense of the term.

The work of the short stops and second basemen was worth going blocks to see.

Only three of the seven errors figured in the seven runs.

Smith lined out another triple to the center fence and scored on Shield's fumble of Dillon's high bounce. As an indication of how the play was after that, the Looloos did not make another run for eleven innings, although they made nine hits. The Tail Ends got into the game in the fourth, when Huriburt scored on Hall's juggle of his grounder, tacked up by successive singles of Josh Reilly and Shea, and a fielder's choice that forced Shea at second base. The next one was in the sixth on Anderson's pass and steat. Huriburt's single to left and Reilly's fielder's choice that forced him at second. SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack Cordell, local amateur, had a lively set-to with Benny Yanger yesterday, and kept sticking his left into Yanger's face and partially blinding his opponent, while he whipped a right across to the head. Benny invited Jack to come on as hard as he liked, and his temper was never ruffled a particle at the fierceness of the onslaught. Yanger did not fight back as hard as the onlowkers would of the onslaught. Yanger did not fight back as hard as the onlookers would have liked, contenting himself with roughing it and throwing over an occasional blow to keep Cordell within bounds. But he showed very poor guard for his head and style that should not be hard for Hanlon to solve.

should not be hard for Hanlon to solve.

Monte Attell was next taken on for four rounds, and allowed to have things pretty much his own way, the same defect in the defense being noticeable. Those who know Abe Attell's method of Jabbing with his left ceased to wonder that he cut Yanger up badly for fifteen rounds when they came together in St. Louis. Yanger is very fast but his defense has disappointed local sports.

Ice cream and cake may satisfy the palate, but they are far from satisfying to the stomach, which requires that food be nutritious first and nice afterward. By careless eating women pave the way for stomach "trouble," and its kindred miseries.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is confidently commended as a cure for diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and autrition. But now Edwin must stand a suitor at his mother's purse. This has been conscientiously and generously open for the gay Don Juan.

After the separation of Mr and Mrs. Mooers, Dorothy turned her innocent blue eyes toward Paris, and went accompanied by her mothers Mrs. Bowman. Some say that the doings of Dorothy in Paris could only be written in French, but it is known that she dazzled there as here. By turns the ethereal-faced young woman was an artist's model and a countess. A Los Angeles man saw her there in the latter role and Dorothy had occasion to plead with him. Nervous prostration cannot continue if the right kind of food is used, but food that will build fat does not always contain the elements necessary for rebuilding the soft gray matter in the nerve centers.

A lady tells how she got well from using Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food. "I was treated by several physicians at the hospital. My disease was pronounced neurasthenia (nervous prostration). The doctors gave me various nerve tonics without producing any beneficial results. I finally got so weak that I could not work either physically or mentally. "About two years ago I began the use of

There would have been no use in reading him a sermon on the text, "Be courteous." His point of view was immovable and it had probably been fixed in his childhood, when his parents had neglected to teach him politeness to servants. That man had the reputation of being very much of a gentleman socially, but I never saw him afterward without recollecting the remark I have quoted and wondering if he would not be a most unpleasant man to live with.

Even in homes where this courtesy is racticed between the members of the family it is often omitted in the case of servants. Children are allowed an abominable amount of license in this regard.

"It is cowardly to be rude to a person who has no right to answer you back." taught a lovely old-school gentlewoman whose husband owned slaves. If the children of those who scoff at slaveholders as the chief of sinners were instructed along the line lidd down by the dear old lady the servant within our gates would have an easier and a happier time of it. The rudeness of speech to maids is not confined to the poorer or less educated classes, but is permitted in families of wealth and apparent refinement. I have heard the children of gentlefolk address the domestics in their home in a manner thit as self-respecting slave owner would have scorned to employ.

Such discourtesy should be rebuked and to the property shat a child should have before his or her eyes. In too many to ward one another a lack of common politeness that arouses cynical mental comment in those who have seen the couple in their courting days.

It should go without saying that no one should everopen a letter addressed to another person. If it is an extreme case, where it seems essential that the mother or father, should be made cognizant of the contents of a letter received by one of the children, the letter should at least be opened in the presence of the person to whom it is directed and it should be understood that the course is only taken as an extreme and painful measure.

At the same time, the rule of bear and forbear, which should be the ruling principle in the home, should induce the persons who dwell in it not to lay too much stress upon the mine and thine. There are certain things that it does no harm to share in common, and good fnanners demand that one should not enforce too strenuously the idea that because a thing is private property it is an infringement of all law to lay hands on it. The late Archioald N. Waterhouse, of Philadelphia, who died suddenly last Friday, held policies amounting to $80,000 in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. AKTON SWENSEN.

intractor of this city, who had been sident for over sixteen years, and up saturday, the 6th inst., resided with is wife and four children at No. 759 ast Sixteenth street. On that day he ide his family good-by and started or Mexico, where he held a half-intert in a mining claim with Newton rown, whose home is at No. 1511 Echo ark road.

Yesterday Mrs. Swensen received a selegram from Ramon Vasquez, a merchant at Nogales, Ariz., which is near he Mexican border. It was exceedingly brief, simply saying:
"Mr. Swensen died accidentally today it Atil."

"Mr. Swensen died accidentally today at Atil."

Mrs. Swensen is positive that her husband has met with foul play, and will place no other interpretation upon the language of the dispatch. She at once telegraphed to Vasquez to send the body to Los Angeles.

The camp of Atil is in Sonora, Mex., sixty miles south of Nogales, and fifty miles from any railroad, and late yesterday, in response to the telegram to send the body, another telegram came from Vasquez in these words: "Body in Mexico, fifty miles from a railroad; have no particulars; have mailed you letter."

eral years. He finally located the St. Augusta mine at Atil, and got Swensen to take a half-interest and put up the money to develop the property. Six months ago Brown went to the mine and took charge of the work, and word has been regularly received from him by his wife as well as by Swensen, up to six weeks ago, when his correspondence suddenly ceased, and no word has been received from him since.

The suspense became too great for even Anton Swensen, and on June 6 he started for the mine to see what had become of his partner. Whether he found out or not is a mystery here, for the first word received of Swensen after he left Nogales was the telegram telling of his death.

Mrs. Swensen is very persistent in her theory that her husband has been murdered, and talked freely about it to a Times reporter. She goes further, and is just as firm in her belief that Brown has been murdered, too.

For some weeks Mrs. Brown has been constantly going to the home of Mrs. Swensen for consolation, and looking in vain for some word from her husband. Yesterday Mrs. Brown was the first person to go to the cottage to be comforter to the friend who had the day before been performing the same office. When seen together, there an

Her words sent the color flying from the face of Mrs. Brown, who said plaintively: Pretty Wife of Kalo, Japan

His wife is a pretty blond young woman with two sweet bables of whom Clayton seemed devotedly fond.

According to the etiquette of the underworld of the crooks it is now "up to" old Snow. He will be expected to set the proper machinery in the proper devious ways to running to see that Clayton's wife and children are well taken care of.

Just how these things are done, only a few of the outsiders are able to know. It was anotiveable fact that Clayton dif not seem to be in the least worried as to what would become of his little family after he was gone; and yet it was not indifference, for he was very fond of them.

He evidently believed that they will be well taken care of.

"No, Miranda," we can't spend two weeks in the mountains this year on what we save on shoe leather," dewhat we save on shoe leather," de-clared the West Sixth-street resident to his wife yesterday morning. "That Sixth-street franchise that brought the city $110,000 has been swallowed up in a maeistrom of mystery along with the 3-cent blanket franchise application, the philanthropic plans of Senator W. A. Clark of Montana and the reply which E. H. Harriman made to H. E. Huntington over a cold bottle and a hot bird at the Poodle Dog in San Fran-cisco.

"The time was when the auction of a franchise at the City Hall created al-most as much stir as a special sale of fancy, opera length, drop-stitch stockings, at 19 cents per pair, but it's all off now. The lions of finance have lain down together and the public lamb

"But don't we get that street-railway at all?" queried Miranda.
"Well, perhaps, if we have sufficient faith and hope long enough," answered the head of the household. "This financial game of hide-and-go-seek in a hard one to follow. Now there was Huntington already to build the road. It was his scheme in the first place. But the other fellow got the franchise and it looks as though we would have to trudge awhile longer. At least we don't know where we are at."

"I wish the newspapers would find out wh n that road is to be built?" said Miranda. "It would make it so handy to run downtown for bargains."

Consequently the reporter found himself making the round of the franchise experts in an endeavor to gather some information that would pacify the indignant citizens of West Sixth street.

LOCAL INVESTORS WILL NOT TAKE THE ENTIRE ISSUE.

Councilmen Confer Regarding Further Steps to be Taken-School Bond Issue May Yet be Marketed in Los Angeles-Convention Hall in Abeyance.

It has been practically settled that the local banking syndicate will not take the entire $2,180,000 issue of bonds. take the entire $2,180,000 issue of bonds. Owing to the great necessity for the improvements for which the bonds were voted, the Council had hoped that the local banks would form a syndicate sufficiently strong to handle the entire issue. In that case the Councilmen were prepared to make substantial concessions to the bankers.

Lindoubtedly an offer at par and necrued interest for the entire issue would errued thereby the councilments of the councilments.

erued interest for the entire issue would have bought the bonds and the Coureil stood ready, with the assent of City Treasurer Workman, to place the money paid for the bonds back in the respective banks and to withdraw it only as needed on a pro rata basis.

J. E. Fishburn of the National Bank of California, but he had been supported by the course of the course

J. E. Fishburn of the National Bank of California has been trying to make the arrangement among the bankers, but he sees no likelihood of the local investors taking the entire issue. He has so informed Councilman Nofziger, who is working zealously to dispose of the securities to the best advantage.

It is now hoped that the bankers can be induced to take the 480,000 issue of common school bonds. The urgency for the disposal of this issue is very great, owing to the crowded condition of the schools.

Inquiries made of eastern brokers have elicited no information other than that the condition of the eastern money market is unfavorable to the sale of bonds of a far western city.

President Bowen returned from Yosemite Valley yesterday and had a conference yesterday afternoon with his colleagues over the sale of the bonds. No definite plan of action was determined.

The great distance of Los Angeles

No definite plan of action was determined.

The great distance of Los Angeles from the money centers seems to be one of the chief objections to the bonds. Minneapolis recently sold a $3.000,000 issue of 3½ per cents, at $101.50, and New York City got an average of $104 for a $3.500,000 issue of 3½ per cents. Louisville is to sell an issue of $300,000 refunding bonds bearing 3½ per cent. Interest this week.

Los Angeles bonds bear the irregular rate of 3½ per cent. interest this week.

Until the bonds are sold the convention-hall project will be held in abeyance. Nothing was heard from H. E. Huntington yesterday in reply to the telegram sent him by Councilman Kern, but it is thought that an answer to the Council's inquiry will come today.

The Council has asked for a substantial donation on the purchase price of the Childs property. Mr. Huntington will undoubtedly communicate with his trusted representatives in this city to learn what would be considered a "substantial donation."

It is hoped by the Councilmen that

"substantial donation."

It is hoped by the Councilmen that Huntington will lower the price from $500,000 (as fixed by the Citizens' Committee) to $300,000. This would allow him $100,000 profit on his purchase in one year.

She Again Goes Over the Details of the Tale That Has Already Been Told Many Times-How the Will Came to Be Written in Pencil.

Mrs. Gertrude Driggs began her active fight for the Hill fortune yester-day in a flood of tears. The case for the Charles side came to an end at noon with a most suggestive bit of testimony. An attorney read from the New York Press a "feature story" describing the circumstances attending the death of the Charles Hill, who came to the head-quarters of the gang and seemed to be a member.

Driggs told her Hill was his lifelong friend. After that she saw much of him. Whenever danger threatened the rang, Hill's safety was first considered, Driggs told her he would be cut in a thousand pleces to save Hill.

When her husband was sent to State's prison, Hill sent her money under the name of Poddle. When he husband came out of prison, they kept a dive in Dayton, O. Hill was there. When she was about to have a child, he promised to make it his heir if a boy. It was a girl, but he, for the privilege of naming it, made it ars heir, anyhow.

Mrs. Driggs started to write a will for him to sign while she was sitting in hed. Ink spilled; she wrote in peacil; hence the pencil will. Her husband and Hill went to Texas. That is as far as she got yesterday.

The Charles attorneys claim that at dates when she had Hill in Texas and elsewhere they have proof he was is New York.

The case will be resumed at 10:30 today.

"If they are going to build, there is no time for delay. Every minute is precious now. I know that contractors figure on just such amounts of time-which of course would be all right if they allowed for delays. The bigger the structure the more probable are delays, and all the more tedious when they do come. I think the plan presented in last Sunday's Times is very good indeed, and with some modifications would serve the purpose admirably. But the hall should be well built, and not rushed to completion at the expense of stability, beauty and almost everything else at the last minute. If the municipality fools around all summer, and perhaps on into the fall before making any decisive moves, the Methodist World Conference, which, I believe means a great deal for this part of the country, will assuredly have to be entertained elsewhere."

suredly have to be entertained elsewhere."

Said Len Behymer who has managed some of the biggest attractions which have visited this city during the past hilf-dozen years: "Upon the erection of this convention hall depends the future of great music in Los Angeles. We cannot support—as indeed can no other city—a theater of sufficient size to hold metropolitan opera audiences, and without some sort of decent house these things will cease to visit us. "A convention hall is preeminently adapted to holding a great opera-company like Grau's aggregation. I helped manage the first big musical event in Kansas City's vast convention building. We surrounded the stage with a big shell, which reached almost to the roof; we built a platform 20 feet wide clear across the house in front of this for the orchestra; we arranged thousands of seats with due regard to sight and sound, and we had a place which easily accommodated all comera, yet which was easily filled with the singers' voices. All the big musical organizations which have visited Kansas City since have with few exceptions taken that convention hall. It has held the Duss orchestra, Ellery's Italian band three or four times, and several great horse show comes around.

they clear the cement floor, build a row of boxes about three feet above the ground level all around the arena thus manufactured, and strew the whole interior with a heavy coating of tan bark. I have seen cavairy, eight abreast, leap hurdle after hurdle, and never injure the floor a bit. There is practically no use to which a hall of this kind cannot be put.

"As an advertising medium for the town great musical organizations, it must be admitted, are almost unexcelled. When Calvé opened Grau's season by giving "Carmen" in this city two years ago, that fact greeted the eyes of men in a dozen countries, all over the civilized world, in the type of their breakfast newspapers the next morning.

of their breakfast newspapers the next morning.

"Kansas City's convention hall first fell to a ring of politicians, and it was a very losing proposition for the city. Finally, however, it came into the management of men in the show business, who fully understood the requirements, and since then it has paid. Give us a convention hall on the Childs place as soon as possible, and put it in the hands of men who won't make a political job out of it—that's all."

An attorney read from the New York Press a "feature story" describing the circumstances attending the death of the nystorious old man, and stating that the forture was waiting an heir. Cleveland believes that should the lot prove too large for convention hall purposes, it might be parceled out-again, and resold to considerable advantage. Said he: "This Childs land will be a kood buy for the city, simply for its increase in value, if nothing more. Of course we need a convention hall, but leaving that out of the question, the whole investment would be a good thing for the town. The city is growing just in that direction; every year there are more and more demands for property in that neighborhood which can't be filled, except at fancy prices; it is almost a certain thing that if the city doesn't take a valuable piece of land like that, some one eise will in a few years cupt it up into lots and put it on the market at a fancy price.

"Suppose it should be found desirable to use a portion of the ground. Then the frontage could be on Main street, and a row of lots could be taken off on Hill street, running clear down from Eleventh to Twelfth streets. An alley could be cut at the back, with suitable fences, and the building property would in no way injure the minicipal tract, while the convention live would probably materially raise the price of the other. In that way a considerable reimbursement could be had."

When Martin Marston reached his home late one night he found on the library table a letter siddressed to him, in the handwriting of his wife. He opened it, and, with deep emotion, read as follows:

"My husband: I am calling you by this name for the last time. I no longer love you and cannot continue to live with you as your wife. When you receive this I shall be many miles away. Do not try to follow me, as it shall never return to your house.—Helen."

Almost believing that his eyes had Almost believing that his eyes had deceived him, he again read the letter. His reading was interrupted by a sound at the door. Looking up, he saw his wife. His face lighted up instantly. "Surely." he thought. "she has repented her rash act, and has come back to my home and my love, prepared to ask me to forgive her."

"I have came back," she said, "to—"
"Then your letter was a cruel mistake," said Marston, "and you do love me."

Shipping and Catering Facilities

One of the most important essentials connected with any manufactured article is promptness and swiftness in shipping and delivery. Enough force and facilities must be at hand to assure patrons prompt service with no annoying delays. When an article is ordered it should at once be sent to the consumer. This has been one of our carriest ambitions to give quick and prompt service to our customers. Our facilities for shipping and catering are such that we can give promptness to our customers both at home and abroad. Cars for shipping are built especially for our use, many of which we are the owner, thus necessitating no delay in waiting for means of transportation. The railroad tracks are built to the doors of the different shipping departments of our brewery. Thus no waste of time in hauling to the station.

Our wagons are kept busy supplying our city trade, catering to all parts of the city. We make a specialty of family and saloon catering. Our wagons stand ready to give you prompt and active service. Our list of customers increases at a rapid pace. Being thoroughly conversant with every branch of the brewing business we know how to supply your wants. We make it our business to serve you well, knowing that by giving you the satisfaction of being served well, we work for our own interest in making you a permanent customer. Having employed in every branch skilled workmen, having every facility for shipping and catering to the trade, having an article upon the market which towers aloft above others in genuineness and excellence, we solicit your patronage.
